Motions

Shareholder No. 274537: Two years ago, the Chairman said that Prince Housing & Development Corp. needed to be rectified as a whole. Two years have passed, I wonder what the future development will be.

Chairman: The word "rectified" is too serious. Maybe "reorganized" is a gentler word. Prince Housing & Development Corp. has two directions for future development. First, in terms of the construction industry, Taiwan's construction market has been treacherous in recent years, with many uncertainties. The Company's current reserve land is still sufficient, but what kind of houses should be built to meet future needs are still in discussion and careful internal evaluation. It may take three to five years from design to completed housing. Therefore, during this period, there is a very important developmental process. As I have mentioned in the past, the characteristics of the construction industry itself is a one-time construction project. Good properties will be gone when sold to clients, so I hope to continue this good relationship in the future.

Prince Housing & Development Corp. has subsidiaries in different industries, such as securities, construction and maintenance, which will have strong demand in the future society. We will organize these units one by one into an independent unit, which can play a role in the construction-related service industry. , to help the Company create a stable source of profit. We also used these two years to revitalize assets that had not been processed in the past, such as abandoned offices, land, etc., so although there were no real estate to sell in these two years, the Company still maintained a considerable cash flow and stability. All the benefits are gained from management, and assets will continue to be activated in the future.

Business Report

I. 2023 Business Report

Amidst a confluence of circumstances including inflation, interest rates, and the suboptimal post-epidemic economic performance in China, manufacturing operations have decelerated in a number of nations. Moreover, the ongoing conflict in the Middle East, the Russia-Ukraine war, and the US-China chip ban have all had an effect on social stability and global economic development. In Taiwan, the retail, tourism, and personnel transportation industries performed better than the previous year. However, the slowdown in global trade expansion has had an impact not only on Taiwan's exports and performance, but also on corporate investment.

In terms of real estate, due to continuous interest rate hikes, selective credit control, and the implementation of the Equalization of Land Rights Act, although housing prices did not fall significantly in the first half of 2023, the transaction volume was the lowest in recent years. Later, as the "New Youth's Housing Subsidy Program" launched by the government has a catalytic effect on the rigid demand, the housing market transactions will slowly recover in the second half of the year.

In 2023, in addition to housing sales, the Company's business model is no longer limited to land purchase and construction, but is committed to building a real estate-based business platform by integrating internal and external resources. To accomplish this, the Company divides its business territory into six major sectors: core construction, BOT projects, construction, property management, hotel operations, and re-investment. Each sector receives the resources it requires. In the core construction sector, efforts are being made to repurpose existing assets to generate revenue, optimize management systems, and advance ongoing projects. In addition to improving the operational performance of existing BOT projects, resources are allocated to develop new ones. The Company bid on BOT projects in Taichung City's Beitun and Dali districts, and was chosen as the preferred applicant, with long-term returns expected. In the construction industry, the Company uses its expertise to develop logistics parks and provide electrical and plumbing services to chain stores, generating revenue through professionalism while deepening its expertise for future growth. In property management, resources are directed toward key communities to establish flagship benchmarks, and the Company was awarded the "Excellent Award for Social Housing and Property Management Evaluation" by New Taipei City in 2023. In hotel operations, properties like W Hotel and Hotel Resonance have turned losses into profits as the tourism market recovers. The investment sector continues to provide steady returns. Each business unit has its own role to play, allowing the Company to grow steadily. In 2023, the amount of annual revenue and net income was NT$1.172 billion and NT$593 million respectively, and the amount of consolidated revenue and consolidated net income was NT$8.485 billion and NT$585 million respectively.

II. Summary of the 2024 Business Plan

In 2024, the recovery of the global economy is not yet clear, and the macro environment is still full of many uncertainties; in terms of real estate, the amendment to the House Hoarding Tax 2.0 has been passed for the third reading. Fluctuations will inevitably occur. How much of the impact will be caused by the increase in the cost of ownership remains to be observed in the future.

In 2024, in addition to optimizing the business model of land purchase, construction, and housing sales to make them more efficient, the Company will integrate internal and external resources in BOT business, construction business, property management, hotel operation and reinvestment, etc. Utilize the synergy of team resources and diversify operations to actively create various revenues.

III. Future Development Strategy

Adhering to the business philosophy of “good location, good design, good construction, and fair price”, and the spirit of "character, brand, and taste", we strive to carve out our core operations, expand diversified revenue channels, and expand into new markets. to create the growth momentum of Prince Housing & Development Corp. for the next 50 years. The future development strategy is to adhere to corporate governance, implement sustainable development, and build a century-old foundation, coupled with internal digital transformation and market diversification operations, in order to become a comprehensive developer with strong anti-risk capabilities and steady growth. The Board of Directors currently consists of 17 Directors, including 5 Independent Directors. The Board members come from a variety of professional backgrounds and have the knowledge, skills, and qualities required to carry out and expand diverse operations in a multifaceted market. They can also effectively supervise the management team to maximize value for shareholders, customers, society, and employees.

CPA Audit Report and 2023 Consolidated Financial Statement t

(113) Cai-Shen-Bao-Zi No. 232004048

Prince Housing and Development Corp.:

Audit Opinion

We have audited the accompanying Consolidated Statement of Financial Position of Prince Housing & Development Corp. and subsidiaries (hereinafter called the “Group”) for the years ended December 31, 2023 and December 31, 2022, and the related Consolidated Statement of Comprehensive Income, Consolidated Statement of Changes in Equity, and Consolidated Statement of Cash Flow, and the note (including a summary of important accounting policies) of the Consolidated Financial Statements during January 1-December 31, 2023 and January 1-December 31, 2022.

In our opinion, with respect to our audit results and the reports (please refer to the Others section) of other independent accountants, the important issues in the said consolidated financial statements have been prepared in accordance with the Regulations Governing the Preparation of Financial Reports by Securities Issuers and that the international financial reporting standards, international accounting standards, interpretations and preparation of interpretation announcements are able to fairly disclose the consolidated financial position of Prince Housing and Development Corp. as of December 31, 2023 and December 31, 2022, and its consolidated financial performance and cash flows of Prince Housing and Development Corp. during January 1-December 31, 2023 and January 1-December 31, 2022.

Basis of Audit

We conducted our audits in accordance with the Regulations Governing Auditing and Attestation of Financial Statements by Certified Public Accountants and the Generally Accepted Auditing Principles of the Republic of China. Under these standards, the accountants are responsible to further explain the accountability of the accountants on auditing the consolidated financial statements. In accordance with the independence requirements of the firm, we have required staff to maintained independence from Prince Housing Group and carried out their duties with respect to The Norm of Professional Ethics for Certified Public Accountant of ROC. We believe that our audits and the reports of other auditors provide a reasonable basis for our opinions.

Key Audit Items

“Key Audit Items” refers to the professional judgement of auditing the most important items in the 2023 Consolidated Financial Statements of the Group. While such items have been addressed when auditing the overall consolidated financial statements and the formation opinions, we will not express opinions on any particular items.

The key audit items of the Group’s 2023 consolidated financial statements are as follows:

Recognition time point of realty sale revenue

Description

Please refer to item (31) in Note 4 of the Consolidated Financial Statements for the accounting policy of sales income and item (24) in Note 6 of the Consolidated Financial Statements for the description of accounting items.

Sales revenues of the Group were recognized after transferring into costs and recognizing as profit/loss after the ownership transfer and the actual handover of property. As properties are sold to individual buyers, the accounting workflow often involves various handbook operating procedures including the transfer of ownership transfer and handover data among departments. This results in the inappropriate time point of recognition near the closing date of the financial report period. Hence, we have set the recognition time point of sales revenues as one of the important audit items.

Responsive Audit Procedures

In response to the said key audit items, we have implemented the following responsive procedures:

1. To discern and assess the internal control procedures for the management’s recognition of revenue from realty sale; and to test if the process of recognition time point of realty sale is effectively implemented, including cross-examining the dates of ownership transfer and handover and the accuracy of accounting time point.
2. A cut-off test was conducted on the realty sale conducted within a particular period before and after the closing date of near the end of the financial report period. The test included cross-examining evidence including the land and building registration transcripts, realty deeds, and handover agreements signed by customers to verify if the revenue from realty sale was registered at the appropriate time.

Recognition of revenues from construction projects—Assessment of completion schedule

Description

Please refer to items (31) in Note 4 and (2) 5 of the Consolidated Financial Statements for the accounting policy for construction agreement and revenue recognition and items (24) in Note 6 of the Consolidated Financial Statements for the description of accounting items. The 2023 revenue from construction projects of the Group was NT$4,227,820 thousand, commanding 49.83% of the consolidated revenue.

The revenues of the construction service offered by the Group are recognized according to the status of completion during the contract period. The status of completion has been calculated according to the percentage in the estimated total construction cost of the incurred cost by the closing date of financial report period of each project. The estimated total construction cost is based on the cost breakdown sheet produced according to the owner's master design drawings and in consideration of increase or decrease of construction quantity resulted from an engineering change and the construction price and cost indices to estimate the costs invested in an outsourced contract, including labor and materials.

Due to the complexity of items for estimating the said total costs and frequent subjective judgments, high uncertainties are common, and the estimation of the total cost will affect the status of completion and the recognition of revenue from construction. Hence, we have set the estimation of the status of completion as one of the important items for auditing the Group's revenue from construction.

Responsive Audit Procedures

In response to the above key audit items, this CPA has implemented the following countermeasures:

1. To discern the nature of operations and industry of the Group; assess the fairness of the internal operating procedures for estimating the total construction cost, including the procedures for determining the labor and material costs of individual project items; and examine the consistency of the estimation method.
2. To assess and test the internal control procedures affecting the change in the estimation of the total cost, including cross-examining the evidence regarding the increase or decrease of project items and important project estimates.
3. To interview supervisors and other appropriate staff for projects still under progress during the interview.

4. To obtain the profit and loss statement to implement related empirical procedures, including spot check of costs incurred in the period with the appropriate receipts (vouchers), spot check of the increase or decrease of project items with related evidence, and re-check of the percentage of project completion.

Others: Audits of other accountants

The financial reports of some investments accounted for under the equity method included in the Group's Consolidated Financial Statement were audited by other accountants. Hence, the opinions we expressed in the said Consolidated Financial Statement for the amounts listed in the financial statements of such companies has been made in accordance with the audit reports of other accountants. The total amount of the said assets (including investments accounted for under the equity method) ended December 31, 2023 and December 31, 2022 was NT$605,697 thousand and NT$599,303 thousand, accounting for 1.31% and 1.25% of the total amount of consolidated assets, respectively. The net revenue for years ended December 31, 2023 and December 31, 2022 was NT$44,019 thousand and NT$44,638 thousand, accounting for 5.46% and 5.08% of the total amount of consolidated net revenue, respectively.

Others: Individual Financial Statements

The Group has produced the Parent Company Only financial statements for 2023 and 2022. The reports have been audited and by CPAs with unqualified opinion and is on record.

Responsibility for the Consolidated Financial Statements of the Management and Governance Units

It is management's responsibility to produce fairly expressed consolidated financial statements in accordance with the Regulations Governing the Preparation of Financial Reports by Securities Issuers, international financial reporting standards, international accounting standards, interpretations, and interpretations recognized and presented for validation to the Financial Supervisory Commission and to maintain the necessary internal controls relating to the production of such consolidated financial statements in order to ensure that no significant, untrue expressions as a result of corruption or errors are found in the consolidated financial statements.

When producing consolidated financial statements, it is also the management's responsibility to assess the Group's capacity to maintain business continuity, disclosure of related information, and choice of accounting basis for business continuity, except when the Group intends to liquidate or shut down operations, or there is no other feasible alternative other than liquidation or closure.

It is the responsibility of the Group's governance units (including the Audit Committee) to supervise the workflow of financial reporting.

Accountant's responsibility for auditing consolidated financial statements

It is our responsibility to audit the Group's consolidated financial statements to provide reasonable assurance in an audit report that no significant, untrue expression as a result of corruption or errors is found in such consolidated financial statements. "Reasonable Assurance" refers to high assurance. However, the detection of significant, untrue expressions in the consolidated financial statements is not guaranteed when audits are implemented based on the Generally Accepted Auditing Principles of the Republic of China. Untrue expression as a result of corruption or errors Untrue expressions of individual amounts or sums are significant when they can reasonably affect the economic policy made by the users off consolidated financial statements.

When auditing based on the Generally Accepted Auditing Principles of the Republic of China, we have applied professional judgments and maintained professional doubts. Other tasks of accountants:

1. To identify and assess significant, untrue expressions of risks as a result of corruption or errors in consolidated financial statements; to plan and implement appropriate countermeasures for the risks assessed; and obtain adequate and appropriate audit evidence as the basis for making audit expressions. While corruption may involve collusions, forgeries, willful omissions, untrue declarations, or overstep of internal controls, it is not detected that the risk caused by significant, untrue expressions as a result of corruption is higher than that of errors.
2. To understand internal controls required for audits in order to design audit procedures appropriate to the situation of audit, provided that such an understanding does not intend to express opinions on the effectiveness of the Group's internal controls.
3. To assess the suitability of the accounting policy adopted by the management and the fairness of its accounting estimation and related disclosures.
4. To conclude if there are significant uncertainties regarding the suitability of the accounting basis adopted by the management to maintain business continuity and the potential significant doubtful incidents or situations within the Group's capacity to maintain business continuity based on the obtained audit evidence. After determining that there are significant uncertainties in such incidents or situations, we shall remind in the audit report the users of such consolidated financial statements to pay attention to related disclosures in such consolidated financial statements, or shall we express a modified opinion where such disclosures are inappropriate. We have made conclusions based on the audit basis obtained by the audit report date. However, future incidents or situations may incapacitate the Group from business continuity.

5. To assess the overall expression, structure and contents of consolidated financial statements (including related notes) and the fair expression of related transactions and incidents in such consolidated financial statements.
6. To gather adequate and suitable audit evidence of the financial information of Parent Company Onlys within the Group to express opinions on the consolidated financial statements. We are responsible to instruct, supervise and implement the audit of the Group and conclude the audit opinions on the Group.

We have communicated the government units on items including the scope and time planned for the audit and important audit findings (including the significant defects identified through internal control during the audit).

We have also provided the governance units with the statement of independence of our staff made in accordance with The Norm of Professional Ethics for Certified Public Accountant of the Republic of China. We have also communicated with the governance units on the relations and other items (including related protective measures) that may affect the independence of accountants.

We have determined the Group's 2023 Consolidated Financial Statements' key audit items based on the communication items with the governance units. We have also specified in the audit report that we will not communicate specific items in the audit report when there are reasons to believe that such communication may cause negative impacts more than positive public interest, except for specific items not allowed for disclosures by law or under extremely rare circumstances.

Basis of Audit

We conducted our audits in accordance with the Regulations Governing Auditing and Attestation of Financial Statements by Certified Public Accountants and the Generally Accepted Auditing Principles of the Republic of China. Under these standards, the accountants are responsible to further explain the accountability of the accountants on auditing the consolidated financial statements. In accordance with the independence requirements of the firm, we have required staff to maintained independence from Prince Housing and Development Corp. and carried out their duties with respect to The Norm of Professional Ethics for Certified Public Accountant of the Republic of China. We believe that our audits and the reports of other auditors provide a reasonable basis for our opinions.

Key Audit Items

Key audit items refer to the professional judgment of auditing the most important items in the 2023 Parent Company Only Financial Statements of Prince Housing and Development Corp.. While such items have been addressed when auditing the overall Parent Company Only financial statements and the formation opinions, we will not express opinions on any particular items.

The key audit items of the 2023 Parent Company Only financial statements of Prince Housing and Development Corp. are as follows:

Recognition time point of realty sale revenue

Description

Please refer to item (30) in Note 4 of the Parent Company Only Financial Statements for the accounting policy of sales income and item (23) in Note 6 of the Parent Company Only Financial Statements for the description of accounting items.

Sales revenue of Prince Housing and Development Corp. was recognized after transferring into costs and recognizing as profit/loss after the ownership transfer and the actual handover of property. As property of Prince Housing and Development Corp. are sold to individual buyers, the accounting workflow often involves various handbook operating procedures including the transfer of ownership transfer and handover data among departments. This results in the inappropriate time point of recognition near the closing date of the financial report period. Hence, we have set the recognition time point of sales revenues as one of the important audit items.

Responsive Audit Procedures

In response to the said key audit items, we have implemented the following responsive procedures:

1. To discern and assess the internal control procedures for the management's recognition of revenue from realty sale; and to test if the process of recognition time point of realty sale is effectively implemented, including cross-examining the dates of ownership transfer and handover and the accuracy of accounting time point.
2. A cut-off test was conducted on the realty sale conducted within a particular period before and after the closing date of near the end of the financial report period. The test included cross-examining evidence including the land and building registration transcripts, realty deeds, and handover agreements signed by customers to verify if the revenue from realty sale was registered at the appropriate time.

Investments accounted for under the equity method: The income from construction projects is recognized by assessing the percentage of completion of projects undertaken by Ta Chen Construction and Engineering Corporation, a subsidiary in possession of subsidiary Cheng-Shi Investment Holdings Co., Ltd.

Description

Please refer to item (14) of Note 4 of the Parent Company Only Financial Statements for the accounting policy of investments accounted for under the equity method and item (7) of Note 6 for the description of accounting items.

While Ta Chen Construction and Engineering Corporation is an important subsidiary of Prince Housing and Development Corp. invested via subsidiary Cheng-Shi Investment Holdings Co., Ltd., the financial performance of Ta Chen Construction and Engineering Corporation has important influence on the financial statements of Prince Housing and Development Corp..

The revenue of the construction service offered by Ta Chen Construction and Engineering Corporation is recognized according to the status of completion during the contract period. The status of completion has been calculated according to the percentage in the estimated total construction cost of the incurred cost by the closing date of financial report period of each project. The estimated total construction cost is based on the cost breakdown sheet produced according to the owner's master design drawings and in consideration of increase or decrease of construction quantity resulted from an engineering change and the construction price and cost indices to estimate the costs invested in an outsourced contract, including labor and materials.

Due to the complexity of items for estimating the said total costs and frequent subjective judgments, high uncertainties are common, and the estimation of the total cost will affect the status of completion and the recognition of revenue from construction. Hence, we have set the estimation of the status of completion as one of the important items for auditing the revenue from construction of Ta Chen Construction and Engineering Corporation.

Responsive Audit Procedures

In response to the said key audit items, we have implemented the following responsive procedures:

1. To discern the nature of operations and industry of Ta Chen Construction and Engineering Corporation; assess the fairness of the internal operating procedures for estimating the total construction cost, including the procedures for determining the labor and material costs of individual project items; and examine the consistency of the estimation method.
2. To assess and test the internal control procedures affecting the change in the estimation of the total cost of Ta Chen Construction and Engineering Corporation, including cross-examining the evidence regarding the increase or decrease of project items and important project estimates.

3. To interview supervisors and other appropriate staff of Ta Chen Construction and Engineering Corporation for projects still under progress during the interview.
4. To obtain the profit and loss statement of Ta Chen Construction and Engineering Corporation to implement related empirical procedures, including spot check of costs incurred in the period with the appropriate receipts (vouchers), spot check of the increase or decrease of project items with related evidence, and re-check of the percentage of project completion.

Others: Audits of other accountants

Hence, the opinion we express in the said Parent Company Only Financial Statement for the amounts listed in the financial statements of such companies has been made in accordance with the audit reports of other accountants. The total amount of the said investments accounted for under the equity method for years ended December 31, 2023 and December 31, 2022 was NT$758,877 thousand and NT$752,483 thousand, accounting for 2.26% and 2.17% of the total amount of Parent Company Only assets respectively. Except with the approval of the chairperson or the speaking shareholder, under no circumstances shall other shareholders interrupt the speech of a shareholder at the meeting.

When an institutional shareholder appoints two or more representatives to attend a meeting of shareholders, only one of such representatives may speak for the same proposal.

After a shareholder finishes a speech, the chairperson may personally or direct relevant staff to respond to such a speech.

Article 12 Voting at a meeting of shareholders shall be calculated based the number of shares. With respect to the resolutions made by the meeting of shareholders, the stake of a shareholder with no voting rights shall not be calculated as part of the total number of issued shares.

Should a shareholder be a stakeholder of a handbook item and should such a relationship prejudice the interest of this Corporation, that shareholder shall neither vote on that item nor exercise the voting rights as proxy for any other shareholders. The number of shares not allowed for excising the voting rights according to the preceding paragraph will not be considered in the voting shares of shareholders in attendance.

Except for a trust enterprise or a shareholder services agent approved by the securities competent authority, when a person is concurrently appointed as proxy by two or more shareholders, the voting rights represented by such a proxy shall not exceed 3% of the voting rights represented by the total number of issued shares, and the percentage of voting rights exceeding such a limit will not be considered.

Article 13 Each shareholder is entitled to one vote for each share held, except for restricted shares or non-voting shares under paragraph 2, Article 179, of the Company Act.

When exercising voting rights by correspondence or electronically, a shareholder shall be deemed as present in the meeting personally. However, such a shareholder shall be considered as a waiver when voting for extraordinary motions and amendments to original proposals. It is therefore advisable that this Corporation shall avoid extraordinary motions and amendments to original proposals at the meeting.

A shareholder intending to exercise voting rights by correspondence or electronically under the preceding paragraph shall deliver a written declaration of intent to this Corporation two days before the date of the meeting of shareholders. When repeat declarations of intent are delivered, the one received earliest shall prevail, except for a declaration made to revoke the previous declaration of intent.

A shareholder wishing to attend a meeting of shareholders after exercising voting rights by correspondence or electronically shall deliver a notice to retract the said voting rights made with the same method as exercising the voting rights in writing two business days before the date of the meeting of shareholders. The voting rights exercised by correspondence or electronically shall prevail for failure to make retraction by the said deadline. When a shareholder exercises voting rights both by correspondence or electronically and by appointing a proxy to attend a meeting of shareholders, the voting rights exercised by the proxy in the meeting shall prevail. Except the Company Act and the articles of incorporation of this Corporation otherwise require, a proposal shall be passed by an affirmative vote of a majority of the voting rights represented by the attending shareholders. At the time of a vote, the chairperson or staff the chairperson designates shall first announce the total number of voting rights represented by the attending shareholders of each proposal before allowing for shareholders to vote. The outcomes of voting, including the number of votes in favor and against, and the number of abstentions shall be posted on MOPS on the same day after the meeting is adjourned.

When there is an amendment or an alternative to a proposal, the chairperson shall present the amended or alternative proposal together with the original proposal and decide the order in which they will be put to a vote. When any one among them is passed, the other proposals will then be deemed rejected, and no further voting shall be required.

The chairperson shall appoint staff to supervise and count the votes if a proposal, provided that the appointed person shall be a shareholder of this Corporation.

Vote counting for proposals or elections in a meeting of shareholders shall be conducted in a common area of the meeting venue. The outcomes, including the statistical tallies of the numbers of votes shall be announced immediately after counting is completed, and records shall be maintained.

Article 14 Directorial elections shall be implemented in accordance with the related election and appointment rules established by this Company, and the voting results shall be announced on-site immediately, including the list of Directors elect and the number of votes with which they were elected, and the list of Directors not elected and the number of votes they acquired.

The ballots for the election referred to in the preceding paragraph shall be sealed with the signatures of the supervising person and retained properly for at least one year. Should a law suit be filed according to Article 189 of the Company Act, the said audiovisual data shall be retained until the end of the suit.

- Article 15 Resolutions made by the meeting of shareholders shall be maintained in the meeting minutes. The meeting minutes shall be signed or sealed by the chairperson of the meeting and a copy distributed to each shareholder within 20 days after meeting adjournment. The meeting minutes may be produced and distributed electronically. This Corporation may distribute the meeting minutes mentioned in the preceding paragraph positing it on MOPS.
- The meeting minutes shall contain the accurate year, month, day, and place of the meeting, the full name of the chairperson, the methods by which resolutions were made, a summary of the deliberations and their results, and the results of voting (including the number of voting rights). If there is a directorial election, the number of votes of each candidate shall be disclosed. Meeting minutes shall be retained permanently during the Company's existence.
- Article 16 On the day of a meeting of shareholders, this Corporation shall compile in the prescribed format a statistical statement of the number of shares obtained by solicitors through solicitation and the number of shares represented by proxies, and shall make an express disclosure of the same at the place of the meeting of shareholders. If matters put to a resolution at a meeting of shareholders constitute material information under applicable laws or regulations or under the regulations specified by Taiwan Stock Exchange Corporation, this Corporation shall upload the content of such resolution to MOPS by the deadline.
- Article 17 Staff handling the administrative affairs of a meeting of shareholders shall wear an identification card or an armband.
- The chair may direct proctors or security guards to help maintain order at the meeting place. When maintaining order at the meeting place, proctors or security guards shall wear an identification card or armband bearing the word "Proctor."
- Should a shareholder attempt to speak through devices other than the public-address equipment prepared by this Company in a meeting, the chairperson may stop such a shareholder.

- Article 18 The chairperson may announce a break, where appropriate, in the middle of the meeting. The chairperson may also temporarily hold the meeting for force majeure or an act of God and resume the meeting wherever the situation allows.

Shareholders may postpone or continue the meeting within five days through resolution in accordance with Article 182 of the Company Act.
- Article 19 Matters not provided for in these Rules shall be handled in accordance with the Company Act, the related regulations of the competent authorities, and the articles of incorporation of this Company.
